Peter S. Prescott was one of the most informed and incisive American literary critics to write for the general public. Never content merely to summarize or to pronounce quick judgments, Prescott's reviews are witty and delightful essays to be enjoyed for their own sake as examples of civilized discourse. Whether he is exploring a well-known novelist's outlook and methods, or the peculiar deficiencies of a work of nonfiction, Prescott's grace, elegance, and insights make each piece proof that real criticism need not be pedantic, obscure, or interminably long. The focus in this second volume of Prescott's writings published by Transaction is on both fiction by American authors and on nonfiction reflecting our American unease. He casts an ironic eye on how we in this country think we live now; on what we are saying about ourselves in our fiction, our history, and our biography. Prescott considers some of our century's classic writers: Hemingway and Henry Miller; John Cheever and Thornton Wilder. He offers new insights regarding those who are still at work: Mailer, John Irving, Oates, Updike, Ozick, and Alice Walker. Some authors do not fare well. With his customary flair; Prescott explains why the reputations of Kurt Vonnegut and Barbara Tuchman, the Encyclopedia Britannica, and John Gardner, urgently need deflation. He includes essays on writers and books not generally noticed in collections of criticism: Stephen King, The Joy of Sex, fairy tales, science fiction, thrillers, books on survival and etiquette. Here is a critic with a personal voice and a sense of style. For essays published in this collection, Prescott received the most highly regarded prize in journalism: the rarely presented George Polk Award for Criticism. This is a chronicle of our contemporary American culture as revealed by its books, written with verve, intelligence, wisdom, and wit by a critic who's cruel only when appropriate. Encounters with American Culture is, quite simply, literary journalism at its urbane best. Peter S. Prescott was book review editor for Newsweek. His books include A Darkening Green: Notes from the Silent Generation, and The Child Savers: Juvenile Justice Observed. Anne L. Prescott is Helen Goodhart Altschul Professor of English at Barnard College.

The Methodist Experience in America Volume 2

What happens when the war against global terrorism also destroys individual integrity and personal freedom? This is the bold, disturbing theme of Manfred Jurgensen's The American Brother. Harry Greene, although a serious-minded intellectual, finds himself at times in absurdly humorous situations. Set in Australia and America, the novel laments the manipulation of identity when economic globalization and international terror are intertwined. As we are carried through a series of breathtaking incidents, we confront the grim reality of how a tyranny of political counter-intelligence has set out to destroy the truth of individual, social and cultural self-determination. A gripping and beautifully written novel which will change the way you think.

Xandria has now overcome her relationship challenges standing strong full force ahead. She goes ready to face the world and her adult independence. What looms ahead she is not prepared for and needs guidance and courage to persevere. As she thinks she has grasped it all, everything jolted away from her forcing her to surrender to God and the unknown, which is her only reality. Join her on the horrible event that she could not predict and the struggle to stay alive. Venture through the miraculous witness and unforeseen death at Xandria's doorstep, allowing her only to be faced with what she has always had to release and trust the survival of the fittest, which is her only gained strength unexplained but calculated. Magical invitations of unexpected forces gather around her and complete her being as she cannot help herself yet the soul within keeping her vibrations alive with miraculous outcomes of evident happenings without her even doing anything but sleeping. When she awakes, it all is serene, and the awareness is overwhelming sometimes awful. Still, she can withstand it as her most primal self is transforming and evolving challenging and testing at all times. She must surrender now to the unknown. Powers are revealing themselves as she can take on the death vortex with others and understands this process now, having endured this pain, she receives experiences, and through surrendering things appear out of nowhere to help her on her journey within. Eliminating all that she has ever believed in, evolving now her play stage that works. Healing of worlds unites bridging the dark with the light turning the grey into colors of the rainbow. Actually, driving through the rainbow to the other side where the hidden gold buried for her to find. After all, challenges and experiences have been decimated again and again. Only to find not Xandria's choice but what God wants, and this is the best of all yet to live. Exciting times, which now turns into a light force of dancing, playing intellectual healing explored only through the series of Xandria's life-counting the days where the deer and birds can be heard all around her. Animals and those that have passed our surely happy as they too have participated. Longing and yearning for laughter and resurrection of all that has been taken by the disintegration. The shadow side, because good always prevails as illness and failure is just the mere glimpse of what God uses in us to become what we are supposed to inevitably, the magic begins. Fear not for I am with you for it is said, be not afraid as I walk with you through the valley of the unknown I will always be with you, and again my child, I am your savior, and I will take care of you forever. She is witnessing the almighty leveraging of what it is all about the all-powerful force of human nature and pure existence of what we would call the gift of being alive and taking each breath and experiencing this wondrous journey called life existence of course never knowing what lies ahead, smiling again to venture out the next journey.

A Patriot's History of the United States

Includes authors, titles, subjects.

The Intertwined Experience

For the past three decades, many history professors have allowed their biases to distort the way America's past is taught. These intellectuals have searched for instances of racism, sexism, and bigotry in our history while downplaying the greatness of America's patriots and the achievements of "dead white men." As a result, more emphasis is placed on Harriet Tubman than on George Washington; more about the internment of Japanese Americans during World War II than about D-Day or Iwo Jima; more on the dangers we faced from Joseph McCarthy than those we faced from Josef Stalin. A Patriot's History of the United States corrects those doctrinaire biases. In this groundbreaking book, America's discovery, founding, and development are reexamined with an appreciation for the elements of public virtue, personal liberty, and private property that make this nation uniquely successful. This book offers a long-overdue acknowledgment of America's true and proud history.

The New Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature: Volume 2, 1660-1800

The author claims to never know where she was going in life until she got there. In the 1970's she found herself reporting for the Big Spring Herald and writing a daily column. There is so much history in the small towns and burgs which sometimes only held a post office, school and a church. This book remembers a lot of them and Marj says it was fun getting there.

More than fifty specialists have contributed to this new edition of volume 2 of The Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature. The design of the original work has established itself so firmly as a workable solution to the immense problems of analysis, articulation and coordination that it has been retained in all its essentials for the new edition. The task of the new contributors has been to revise and integrate the lists of 1940 and 1957, to add materials of the following decade, to correct and refine the bibliographical details already available, and to re-shape the whole according to a new series of conventions devised to give greater clarity and consistency to the entries.

American Journey

Hail, Ennius! Hail, Florus Tullius Cornelius! Hail, Marcus Heracleus Flavius! When did you come back? The day before yesterday, at dawn, exhausted. You, exhausted? You are never in a sweat! Don't jeer at me, Florus Tullius Cornelius. I am drudging even now on behalf of my friends! Your friends? We did not ask you to drudge But my love thinks of you. You cruel people who sneer at me, see this procession of slaves laden with goods? Others have gone before them with other goods. And it's all to honour you. So this is your work? A banquet? Why? Sh! Noble patricians making such a terrible din! You sound like the plebeans of this country where we are wearing ourselves out in Orgies and idleness. Because we do nothing else. Why are we here? To be bored to death. To teach the hired female mourners here how to live. And to sow Rome in the sacred pelvises of Jewish women. And to enjoy, here as anywhere else, our wealth and power, to which everything is allowed. But for some time a fog has been hanging over the merry Court of Pilate. The most beautiful women look like chaste vestals and their husbands comply with their whims. And that spoils the habitual feasts a great deal Of course! The caprice for that coarse Galilean But it will soon be over You are wrong, Ennius. I know that Claudia also is conquered by Him and thus good morals have strangely installed themselves in her palace. Roman republican austerity seems to be revived there One reason more why I should help you. A great dinner this evening and a greater orgy in my house. I was at Cyntium and I found delightful things which these stinkers consider impure: little wild boars removed alive from their mother, which had been killed, and bred for our dinners. And wines Ah! sweet, precious wines and sweet-smelling wines and inebriating wines to excite senses for the final enjoyment. Oh! It must be a great feast, to dispel the tedium of our exile and to convince ourselves that we are still virile! Will there be women as well? Of course And more beautiful than roses. Of every colour and taste. I spent a treasure for all the goods, including the women But I am generous to my friends! After the banquet, let us have love! The three men laugh grossly, anticipating the shameful pleasures. But why this exceptional feast? I will whisper it to you: I am invited to a wedding You? Liar! I am invited to a wedding. It is a "wedding" every time one relishes the first sip from a sealed amphora. And I am doing that this evening. Two hundred gold pieces I paid for her. Beautiful and pure! A bud, a closed bud Ah! And I am her master! And the girl will know me only If He heard you Oh! Here He is! Who? The Nazarene Who cast a spell on our ladies. He is behind you
